

Ways students and faculty members obtain money to attend IURS.

- Some universities have STEM grants and some of that money can be used to fund participation in IURS.
- Some universities have undergraduate research offices and may have monies through that office.
- Universities provide monies for attending IURS.
- Departments have funds for student travel.
- Students obtain funding from the Student Government.
- Funding from other governmental organizations.
- Grants from local or national industries.
- Students can carry out money making activities to raise money to attend IURS.

IURS is not a money making organization.

IURS registration normally goes to provide food and housing during the symposium.